NEW QUESTION: 2
Woodraw Wilson was referring to the liberal idea of the economic market when he said that the free enterprise system is the most efficient economic system. Maximum freedom means maximum productiveness; our "openness" is to be the measure of our stability. Fascination with this ideal has made Americans defy the "Old World" categories of settled possessiveness versus unsettling deprivation., the cupidity of retention versus the cupidity of seizure, a "status quo" defended of attacked. The United States, it was believed, had no status quo ante. Our only "station" was the turning of a stationary wheel, spinning faster and faster. We did not base our system on property but opportunity-which meant we based it not on stability but on mobility. The more things changed, that is, the more rapidly the wheel turned, the steadier we would be. The conventional picture of class politics is composed of the Haves, who want a stability to keep what they have, and Have-Nots, who want a touch of instability and change in which to scramble for the things they have not. But Americans imagined a condition in which speculators, self-makers, runners are always using the new opportunities given by our land. These economic leaders (front-runners) would thus be mainly agents of Change. The nonstarters were considered the ones who wanted stability, a strong referee to give them some position in the race, a regulative hand to calm manic speculation; an authority that can call things to a half begin things again from compensatorily staggered "starting lines".:Reform" in America has been sterile because it can imagine no change except through the extension of this metaphor of the race, wider inclusion of competitors, "a piece of the action." As it were, of the disenfranchised. There is no attempt to call off the race. Since our only stability is change.

America seems not to honor the quite work that achieves social interdependence and stability. There is, in our legends, no heroism of the office clerk, no stable industrial work force of the people who actually make the system work. There is no pride in being an employee (Wilson asked for a return to the time when everyone was an employer). There has been no boasting about our social workers-they are need; empty boasts from the past make us ashamed of our present achievements, make us try to forget or deny the, move away from them. There is no honor but in the wonderland race we must all run, all trying to win, none winning in the end (for there is no end).

The author sets off the word "Reform" with quotation marks in order to

A. underscore the flexibility and even amorphousness of United States society
B. emphasize its departure from the concept of settled possessiveness
C. assert that reform in the United States has not been fundamental
D. show his support for a systematic program of change
E. indicate that the term was one of Wilson's favorites

C. SGACLには暗黙の否定が最後にあります。
D. SGFWには暗黙の許可が最初にあります。

Answer: B

Explanation:
Explanation
Unlike ACLs with an implicit deny at the end, Security Group ACLs (SGACLs) implemented on a switching platform have an implicit permit to Unknown or an implicit permit to all. This policy is not enforced on the Cisco ASA firewall or the Cisco IOS zone-based firewall acting as an SGFW, where an implicit deny is still maintained. On a switch, if no specific tag value is assigned to a server, the destination is considered Unknown and the packet is forwarded by default
