NEW QUESTION: 1
This OSI layer has a service that negotiates transfer syntax and translates data to and from the transfer syntax for users, which may represent data using different syntaxes. At which of the following layers would you find such service?
A. Session
B. Transport
C. Presentation
D. Application
Answer: C
Explanation:
It is responsible for taking information from the "Application layer protocols" and putting it in a form suitable for the application to process.
The presentation-layer implementation of the OSI protocol suite consists of a presentation protocol and a presentation service. The presentation protocol allows presentation-service users (PSusers) to communicate with the presentation service.
A PS-user is an entity that requests the services of the presentation layer. Such requests are made at Presentation-Service Access Points (PSAPs). PS-users are uniquely identified by using PSAP addresses.
Presentation service negotiates transfer syntax and translates data to and from the transfer syntax for PS-users, which represent data using different syntaxes. The presentation service is used by two PS-users to agree upon the transfer syntax that will be used. When a transfer syntax is agreed upon, presentation-service entities must translate the data from the PS-user to the correct transfer syntax.
The OSI presentation-layer service is defined in the ISO 8822 standard and in the ITU-T X.216 recommendation. The OSI presentation protocol is defined in the ISO 8823 standard and in the ITU-T X.226 recommendation. A connectionless version of the presentation protocol is specified in the ISO 9576 standard.

To remember the OSI layers you can use the following Mnemonics:
The first one is from the bottom (Physical Layer - Layer 1) up (Application - Layer 7):
Please Do Not Throw Sausage Pizza Away
There is another mnemonic from the top down:
All People Seem To Need Data Processing
Both maps to:
1. Physical - 2. Data link - 3. Network - 4. Transport - 5. Session - 6. Presentation - 7. Application
The following answers are incorrect: Transport: Responsible for providing end to end data transport services and establish the logical connection between COMPUTERS for example TCP and UDP
Session: Responsible for maintaing the connection between two APPLICATIONS during the data transfer for example NFS , RPC protocol Application : Works closest to the application , it does not itself contain applications but rather the protocols that support the applications. for example HTTP work at this layer but the application it support is IE , Mozilla , opera , chrome ...

NEW QUESTION: 3
You are the project manager of the NHQ project. You are working with your project team to create the project schedule and the project network diagram. In order to start the sequencing of the project activities, you will need a document to identify the result of project phases, key project deliverables, and significant, timeless events in the project. Which of the following documents will you need to help sequence the project work?
A. Project scope statement
B. Activity list
C. Activity attributes
D. Milestone list
Answer: D
Explanation:
Explanation/Reference:
Explanation:
The milestone list is needed as an input to the sequence activities process. Milestones are timeless events in the project schedule that are generally created as a result of phase completion. What is a milestone list?

A milestone list provides a sequence of indicators about project progress to date and achievements or goals, which are to be achieved. The milestone list is used in project management as an indication of progress through the achievement of a major project accomplishment. It is a project document that is not part of the project management plan. The list contains all the project milestones along with information indicating whether they are mandatory to achieve or not.

Incorrect Answers:

A: Activity attributes describe the work, nature of the activity, and required resources for the activity.

B: While the activity list is an input to activity sequencing, it is not a document that shows timeless events or the results of activity phases.

C: The project scope statement is an input to the activity sequence, but it does not define the end result of activity phases.
