NEW QUESTION: 2

You are talking to a prospective customer at a medium-to-large enterprise firm about an upcoming storage refresh project they have for their legacy architecture storage platforms. The customer mentions that as they grew the size and types of workloads on their present storage arrays, they became slower in terms of IOPS and throughput. In a few cases, they had to purchase additional arrays to off-load some of the workload. They noticed the same impact to performance when they enabled array-based replication.

Which HPE 3PAR StoreServ architecture feature would solve these issues?

- A. The HPE StoreServ storage array uses a high-speed, full-mesh active interconnect to join multiple controller nodes together to form a cache-coherent cluster across the entire array.
- B. The shared links between the controller node and each of the other nodes operates at 4 GB/s full duplex to adequately support the clustering of controller nodes and movement of data between nodes.
- C. The HPE 3PAR ASIC offloads IO workload performed by microprocessors in legacy storage array platforms.
- D. The HPE 3PAR StoreServ storage array is an ideal high availability platform that runs its OS in a single instance.
