Answer: E
Explanation:
Explanation/Reference:
Explanation:
See  below.
Oracle CRM On Demand then evaluates all the related access levels to determine if the Inherit Primary access level is present in the set of access levels and determines what records to display, as follows:
* If the Inherit Primary access level is not found:
/If the most permissive access level is No Access, then the related records are not shown.
/If the most permissive access level is anything other than No Access, then all related records are shown, including records the current user is not authorized to see.
 If the Inherit Primary access level is found, and the Can Read All Records check box is selected for the related record type in the current user's role, then all related records are displayed.

NEW QUESTION: 3
You have an Exchange Server 2013 organization.
All users are issued certificates from an internal certification authority (CA).
Users who have a laptop can access their mailbox from the Internet by using Outlook Anywhere.
When the users attempt to view or to create digitally signed email messages while they are connected to the Internet, the users receive a warning message.
When the users use their laptop on the internal network, the users do not receive a warning message.
You need to ensure that the users can send and receive digitally signed email messages without receiving a warning message.
What should you do?
A. Install a trusted root CA certificate on all of the laptops.
B. Install a trusted root CA certificate on all Client Access servers.
C. Publish the root certificate of the CA to a server that is accessible from the Internet.
D. Publish the certificate revocation list (CRL) to a server that is accessible from the Internet.
Answer: D
Explanation:
It works inside the network. Therefore the CA is trusted. Without access to the CRL, you'll get an error saying A revocation check could not be performed for the certificate.
